- To write a letter to AB Environment—Council feels that an order is appropriate as opposed to a recommendation that Heisler hire a consultant to perform a leak detection survey for village water infrastructure
- Council discussed the amount of money that the village will designate to the future playground project. The CAO will designate $25,000 in the 2014 operating budget, plus $14,390.76 already donated/reserved for a total of $39,390.76

CANADA READS 2013
CONTENDERS
Who will win the battle of the books?

Canada Reads 2013 is returning to fiction, but with a twist. We've divided the country into five regions -- British Columbia and Yukon, Prairies and North, Ontario, Quebec and the Atlantic Provinces -- and asked Canadians to recommend the novel they want to represent the place they call home. The most popular books in each region made the Top 10 lists. These lists were put to a vote, with the most popular books from each region moving on to the Top 5.

The Top 5 lists were then given to the panelists, each chosen to represent the region they call home. The Canada Reads 2013 contenders are:

From British Columbia and Yukon:
Carol Huynh defending Indian Horse by Richard Wagamese

From Prairies and North:
Ron MacLean defending The Age of Hope by David Bergen

From Ontario:
Charlotte Gray defending Away by Jane Urquhart

From Quebec:
Jay Baruchel defending Two Solitudes by Hugh MacLennan

From Atlantic Provinces:
Trent McClellan defending February by Lisa Moore
